This year was one that we'll never forget. Many things have taken place; some were bad, but many were good. We lived through many experiences that changed our lives.

Many tragedies plagued the year: assassination attempts, murders, plane crashes and fires. The nation recovered from these, but they will always affect us. Unemployment, inflation and higher taxes are still some of the problems that haven't been solved. The President made a promise that the economy would get better, but progress was very slow.

Despite all of the tragedies, there were many bright spots in the last year. The United States launched its first space shuttle, and many U.S. athletes won world championships. These accomplishments have brought pride and dignity to our nation.

This unique year is now a thing of the past, but we are looking toward the future for better things to come.

Scarlets grow, progress as '82 passes

This was the year for changes. New teachers, new activities and new improvements in the school highlighted the year.

The major change this year was getting a new principal. Mrs. Barbara Prior is the first woman principal since Mae Goodrell retired in 1918. Fourteen new staff members were also added, including the new vice-principal and a new liaison officer.

Besides all of the new faculty members, many new students entered East. As of September 11, there were 1,968 students enrolled.

Many noticeable improvements were made around the school this year. Over the summer and at the beginning of the year, the janitors worked hard to fix up the building. New lights were put up in the cafeteria and halls; new energy-efficient windows were installed and a new ventilation system was put in. New fans were to be installed before the end of the school year and were expected to remedy the heating problem.

Students and teachers who used the library were in for a pleasant surprise. Two new stained-glass windows were installed. The windows were a gift from last year's graduating class.

As for activities around school, some were changed. Instead of sponsoring the usual Pancake Day in October, the Booster Club had a Fish Fry that had a tremendous turnout.

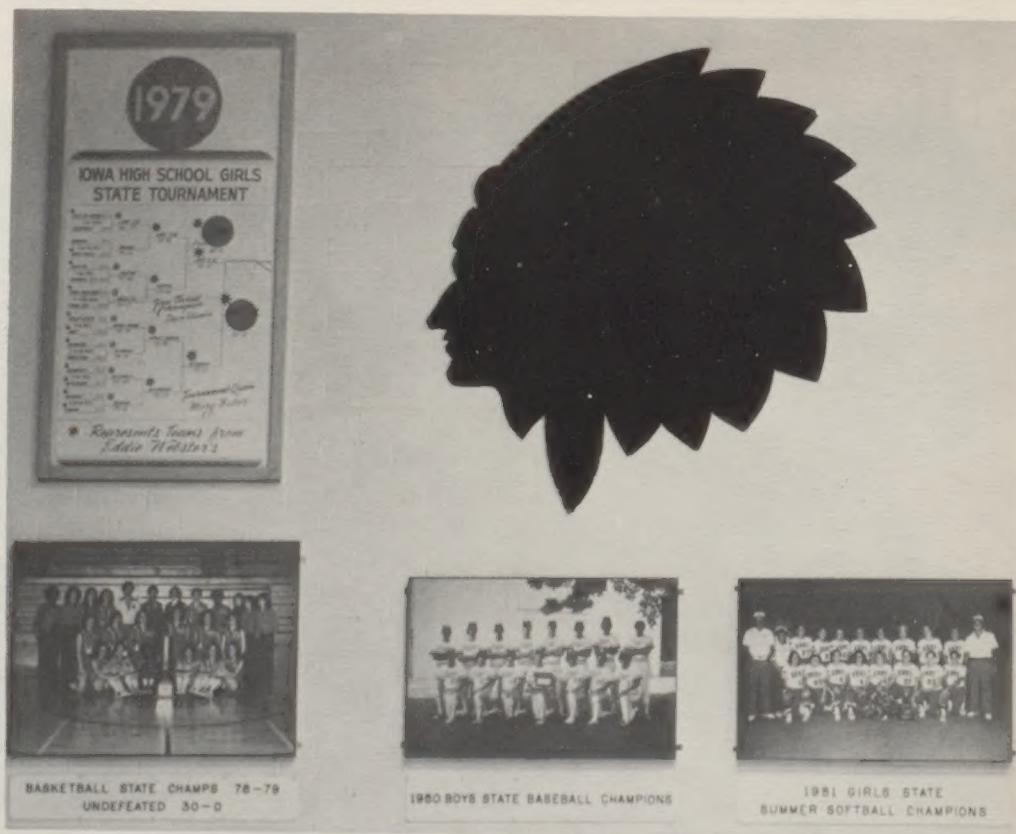

In November, the school had a new type of Open House. It lasted all day so that more parents could come. While the teachers stayed at school for this, the students had a day off.

All of these changes improved the school immensely. They will help keep East growing for many years to come, and make students proud to attend such a fine school.

The all-mighty Scarlets express their athletic talents in championship trophies and newly displayed pictures in the big gym.

Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, receives a pot of roses from the student body as she flashes her ever-popular smile.

As declining enrollment struck school systems, enrollment here peaked near 2,000 and overcrowding of the school is evident.

While the Scarlets grow, change and progress, this great Scarlet Indian looks into the future for more feats to conquer.

Homecoming

Eyes turn toward Laurie Olson as she is announced Homecoming Queen at the 1981-82 Homecoming Assembly.

Providing the music was "Cyclone." They played a variety of fast and slow numbers.

School pride shows through at Homecoming

Although Homecoming was overshadowed by a valiant yet failing attempt at victory, it was still as fun as always.

The music for the dance was furnished by a band called "Cyclone."

Prior joins spirited students during Homecoming activities

Homecoming Week was again a big success. When students and teachers were asked what they thought of Homecoming Week, they said, "It's the best one we've had in quite a while."

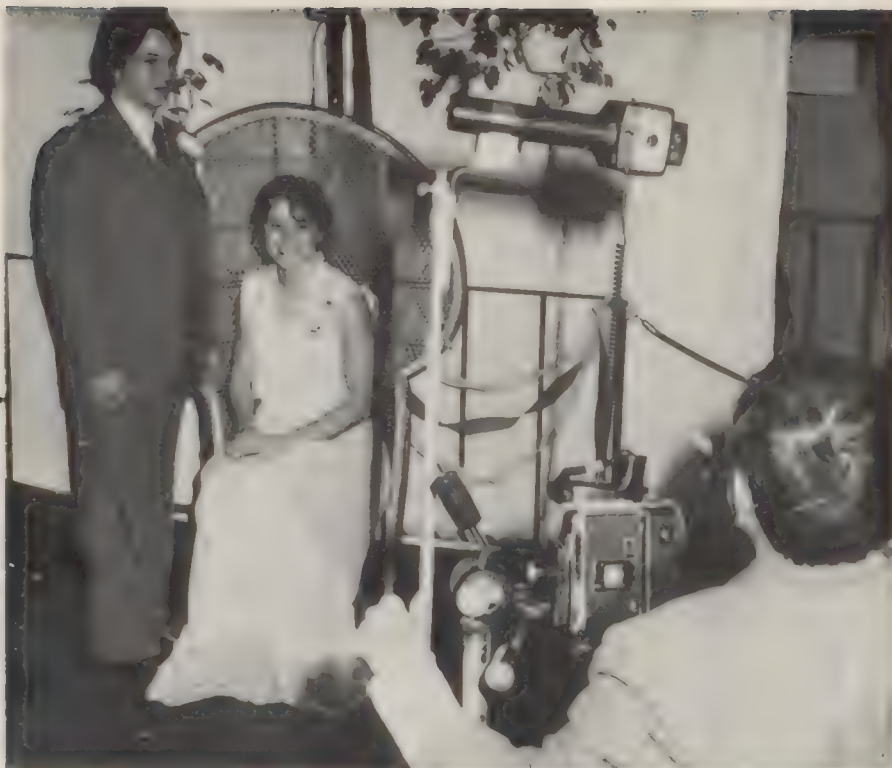

Student Government sponsored most of the activities, along with Pep "E" Club. Among these activities were Grub Day, T-Shirt Day, Dress-Up Day, Hat and Shade Day and Spirit Day. A bonfire and car bash were held the night before the game, along with a powder puff football game. This game was played by girl football players and cheered by boy cheerleaders.

Fund-raising activities included a special breakfast on Student Appreciation Day, the car bash and chances on a "spirit chain," which was broken during the Homecoming Assembly. Each class competed to make the longest chain. The class with the longest paper chain got its chain broken, and the person whose name was on the broken link won a $10 gift certificate at the Record Shop.

Junior Paul Wiezorek assists Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, in smashing the "Dowling Car" at the car bash. Paul received 23 stitches in his left hand.

coe provides pictures at all the dances at a cost of $5 per couple.

Seniors Marla Ford and Doug Layton and graduate Ron Foreman dance while Mary Johnson smiles in amazement at Kent Reed's dancing abilities. Mary and Kent are seniors.

Just the two of us...

12 B Formal

Couples dance to the music of Mary Magnani and Company at the annual 12-B Dance.

Music for the dance was provided by Mary Magnani and Company. This was the first performance for the band at an East High Dance.

Romance hits East as couples dance to 'Just the Two of Us'

The annual 12-B Winter Formal was held Saturday, Jan. 2. The dance lasted from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Airport Inn, with the theme, "Just the Two of Us."

Sponsored by Mrs. Gwenn Copple, Spanish teacher, and organized by seniors Diane Reynolds and Debbie Pfundheller, the dance is considered to be a "private party" put on by the 45 senior girl hostesses.

The requirements for being a hostess included being a senior and meeting the monetary deadline. Each girl then received two tickets, one for her and her escort, and one to sell to another couple.

Since this was their own private party, the girls were responsible for organizing the dance and printing the tickets and programs, as well as providing food and decorations.

At the end of the dance, the traditional wine goblets were presented to each hostess and her escort. The goblets were embossed with the theme of the dance.

The music for the dance was provided by Mary Magnani and Company.

12-B is derived from 12 meaning "senior" and "B" meaning second semester.

Spingters' Spree

Kermit shows Miss Piggy at annual Spree

"Rainbow Connection" was the theme for the annual Spinster Spree, sponsored by the Pep "E" Club. It was held on Saturday, Feb. 6.

Many hours were put into decorating the various areas in and around the cafeteria. These areas were the Piggy Pen (jail), Rainbow Lounge (refreshment room), Marriage Booth and even a telegraph office so a person could send his loved one or friend a telegram.

Every year the girls are requested to arrange and design boutonnieres for their escorts. Many prizes were given for the most original, most creative, best theme and overall best boutonniere.

After-hours work shows up: Scarlets display their talents

Hold your horses, everybody. This is just the beginning of some of the outstanding talents the Scarlets are showing this year. It is one thing to be taught reading or writing, but it is another thing to have natural talent.

Once these young people have discovered their talents, they can advance it by finding out more about what they do best. For example, at the right of the page, Joleen Baker is speed-skating. Once she found her talent, she decided to further it. Also to the right is Ruth Love, singing; once she found her talent, she took it further by joining choir. These are just a few of the talents that students have.

Everyone has a special talent, whether from sports to academics, or from artistic abilities to musical abilities.

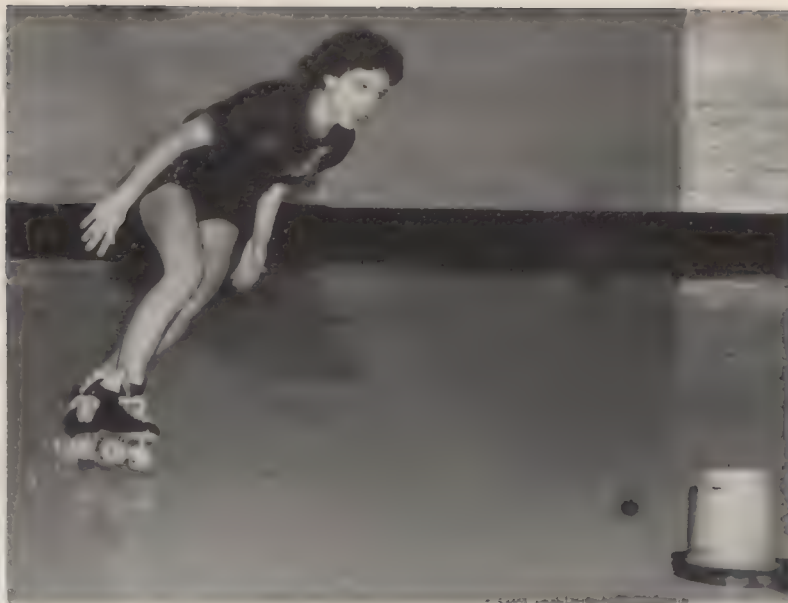

Every person should find his or her talent and put it to its full use.

So find your talent; then make it work for you.

Sophomore Julie Mahedy dives into a race. Julie has won many awards as a member of the Teachout Swim Team.

Student Interests

Freshman Joleen Baker speed skates around a pylon. Joleen recently placed first at a Mid-America meet.

Junior Ruth Love sings away at one of her lessons. Ruth has sung at the Iowa State Fair for the past few years.

Junior Missi Gilbert's horse, Sassatras De Spice, shows high spirits on a frisky winter day. Missi has trained the mare for barrel racing and pole bending.

Sophomores Carol Warren and Allen Downey and juniors Tammy Roiland and Tom Mentzer listen to the viewpoints presented by Mark Glynn, senior, Joe Lazzari, sophomore, and Kevin Green, senior.

Junior Tom Mentzer and sophomores Joe Lazzari and Allen Downey discuss the possible motives of the person accused of murder.

Junior Tom Mentzer puts on a show for sophomores Carol Warren and Joe Lazzari and junior Tammy Roiland of the jury.

Find murderer of mystery, "Jury Room"

The fall play, "The Jury Room" was presented Dec. 15 at 8:30 in the auditorium. The two-hour play included 12 students. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Ann Gaines-Rhone.

Even though the play was performed only one night, there was a good turn-out. The play was a mixture of comedy and mystery, making it an enjoyable play. The hours of hard work really paid off.

Senior Kevin Green puts on a great act by convincing the jury to reconsider their verdict.

Weekends fun for all — young and old share the good times

"What time is it?" someone asks. "Happy hour" comes the reply over the loud music.

But of course no one really cares what time it is because it's Saturday night.

Weekends. Everyone enjoyed them. Adults enjoyed them because there was no work. Children enjoyed them because of Saturday morning cartoons. Teens enjoyed them because of parties, no school, movies, dates, etc.

The weekend festivities changed with the seasons. In the summer, most enjoyed beach parties, ball games, horseback riding and other things which could be done all year round.

In the winter, innertubing, sledding, ice-scating and snowmobiling got the crowds.

A favorite all-year-long activity was scooping the loop, with the main drags being Locust and Grand Avenues downtown. Another favorite was the video game; arcades were always packed.

On a Saturday night, Rick Backous and his date Tina Smith catch a movie at the cinema.

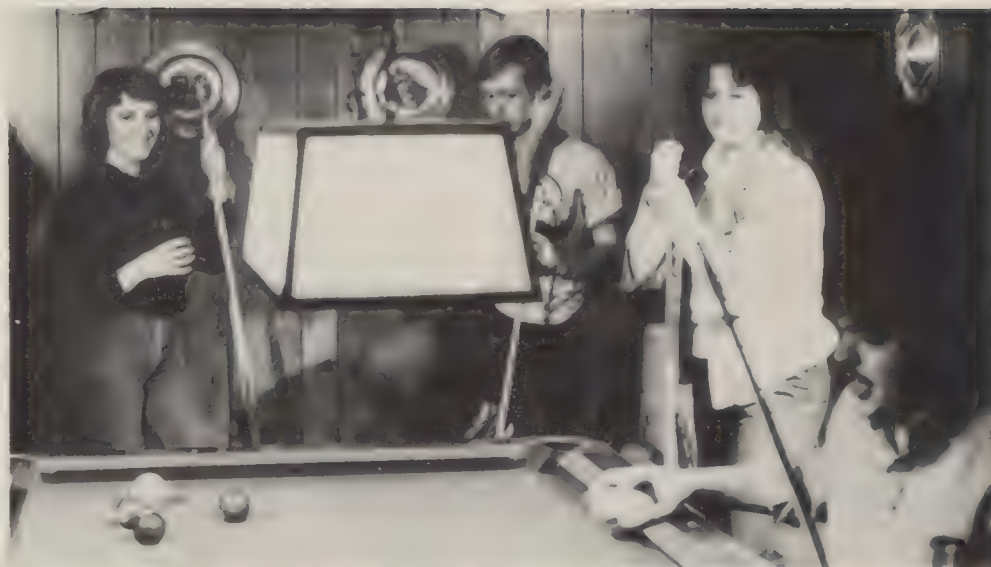

Considered a Pac-Man wizard by many, Gaylord Jolly demonstrates his skill at the machine. The video games were a major success among teens. In such machines the player is pitted against the computer, and the player may continue playing, depending on his ability.

Weekends

Pool shark Ron Gee, senior, knocks the fifteen-ball in the corner pocket during a party. Watching are seniors Matt Moberg and Tina Smith.

Seniors Tina Smith, Matt Moberg and Ron Gee and junior Amy Smith enjoy a friendly game of billiards on a Friday night.

Senior Teresa Harne spends a weekend afternoon touching up her basketball skills.

In the beginning of school, and great place to spend time. Some of the things that I like to do are to go to the library to read a book.

David Nilsen works nights and weekends as a helper at the American Lung Association. He can have a few extra dollars to spend on the weekend.

Have it your way, James Regan English is a customer at he receives his human from his partner at a local Burger King restaurant.

JOBS

Change in students' pockets puts a 'jingle' in their work

Ultimately Dahl's . . . A helpful smile in every aisle at Hy-Vee . . . Richmond Gordman, we'll be good to you . . . Have it your way at Burger King . . . You deserve a break today at McDonalds . . . Wendy's — ain't no reason to go anyplace else . . . Younkers — the store to come home to . . . Hurry on down to Hardee's.

These were just a few of the many, many areas of employment for high school students. After completing a full day of studying at school, some students performed their duties at work. Working late and long hours didn't seem to put a damper on these students' energy.

They always seemed to find ways to spend these extra dollars on eating, movies, cars, girlfriends and boyfriends. They seemed to have most of the money spent before it was even made.

Scrumptillyishus Dairy Queen . . . Oh, thank heaven for 7-11 . . . K-Mart is your savings place . . . You'll like Perkins . . . A&W rootbeer has that frosty mug taste . . .

Jeanette Albers, senior, works on the food service line at Lutheran Hospital after a hard day at school.

Good Times

Every year hundreds of students rush through the halls, trying to beat the bell. For a second we forget the memories we have had here, memories that have made these halls our home.

These memorable good times range from fire drills in the winter time to food fights in the lunch room. For some, good times were standing in the hallways with friends and reminiscing about that great game played the night before.

Dances and parties throughout the year kept kids on the move and looking forward to another year of good times.

When students were asked to describe their good times, senior Kaye Clinton remembered her good times as a Cheerleader, cheering her team on to victory. "Going to football and basketball games" was junior Chetna Patel's description of her good times. Sengchanh Baccam had good times over his vacations, when he could take it easy.

Senior Jackie Harrington gets a familiar sick feeling as she sees her homework assignment for the evening.

A cheering crowd of alumni and students root for their home team, keeping our school spirit as lively as it's always been.

Kiwanians

The ability to represent East High as a leader was the main criterion used to select the Kiwanians of the Month. Eight seniors were chosen to have that honor. Along with the title came a couple of other opportunities.

Each Kiwanian got to meet some key business and civic leaders from Des Moines. The Kiwanians, accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, met those leaders while attending luncheons during their respective months as Kiwanians.

Mr. Gayle Burgett, PE teacher, and Mr. James Bush, chairman of the Social Science Department, help the Booster Club at the Fish Fry.

Booster Club

The Fish Fry and the annual awards banquet were only two of the many activities in which the Booster Club was involved.

Helping to raise money for various school-sponsored groups was the purpose of the Booster Club. The money raised went, one way or another, for the betterment of East High.

The officers of the Booster Club were Mr. Vern Waters, president; Mr. Jim Reynolds, vice-president; Mrs. Kathy Winterberg, secretary; and Mr. Bill Walling, treasurer.

Representatives of the Booster Club discuss problems during a meeting.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association is a group that brings the parents together with the teachers and students for the benefit of the school.

The group was made up of volunteers who were willing to contribute some of their time to help improve the school.

The PTSA worked very hard and were proud to be able to give Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, $7,500 raised by concession-stand sales. So far, $3,100 of that money has been put to good use.

First, at a cost of $502, six new "angel" spotlights were purchased for the auditorium.

Second, an A.B. Dick copying machine, which will make up to 99 copies in one setting, was bought at a cost of $2,100.

Third, $500 was given to the Science Department. Most of the items bought with the money were to be used in Physics classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent and Janet Forbes, co-presidents of PTSA, take some time out of their busy schedules to visit with the new principal, Mrs. Barbara Prior.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mathews brave the cold at a football game to work in the concession stand raising money for the PTSA. Mr. Mathews was the manager of the PTSA concession stand.

Pep 'E' Club

Pep "E" Club officers and members were busy thinking of new ways to promote school spirit.

Two of these ideas were the Homecoming spirit chain and the Christmas spirit ribbons.

Pep "E" Club also sponsored the Homecoming Breakfast, organized the Spinsters' Spree, decorated the library for Christmas, made locker decorations and prepared Thanksgiving baskets to give to retired teachers.

The main faculty sponsors were Mrs. Shirley Blenderman and Mrs. Elaine Peterson. Senior Shanty Mathew was elected president. The representatives were seniors Kim Miller and Kim Hoffman; juniors Lanette LeCroy and Justine Miller; sophomores Paula Dolan and Lisa Leonard; and freshmen Debbie Reinier and Stephany Painter. Anna Pitts was in charge of finances, and publicity was handled by Denise Kruetz, Dana Powell and Bill Blanchard.

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to organize an assembly? That was exactly what the Assembly Committee did whenever there was an assembly scheduled to take place in the gymnasium.

Because of the new set-up, more students were able to get involved in Student Government. The new set-up included four Senators chosen from each class instead of just two.

Student Government worked on a combination of old problems and new. One of the main objectives was working on establishing a positive image of the East Side.

Mr. Gary Brand, Student Government sponsor, commented, "This year's fall Student Government did an exceptional job with Homecoming. They initiated several new events, including a powder-puff football game, a bonfire pep rally, a car bash and daily review contests."

Mr. Brand concluded, "This year's Student Government was a fun group and one willing to work hard toward making this year a meaningful one."

Student Government sponsored a "Pie-in-the-Face Contest" during Homecoming Week. Mr. Gary Brand, Student Government sponsor, enjoyed the honor of delivering the prize to the winner, Mr. Marty Mohler.

Spanish students held a Christmas Party at which they broke pinatas which they had made earlier in the year. Taking a field trip to a Spanish restaurant was the highlight of the Spanish student's year.

Activities for the French Club included bowling, horesback riding and a hayrack ride. Highlights of the year were a winter ski trip to the Afton Alps in Minnesota and a trip to a French restaurant in Omaha, Nebr.

Spanish Club was sponsored by Mrs. Gwen Copple and French Club was sponsored by Mr. Tom Moore.

TOP: Campus Life sponsored many activities in which students and alumni were able to interact with each other. Campus Life was a group which involved many East High students and alumni. It sponsored many unusually fun "let-your-hair-hang-out" type activities, as well as such activities as skiing, gym nights and camping.

Developing a well balanced student through personal and spiritual growth was the group's main goal. Weekly meetings were held to encourage students with their daily lives and to train them to help others, others.

Meeting new people and building lasting friendships was a common occurrence through Campus Life.

Cheerleaders

Dedication and responsibility are the key qualities Cheerleaders need. Cheerleaders must have a lot of time for practices and cheering at all sporting events.

Cheerleaders must provide transportation to all games and practices. They must take financial responsibility for uniforms, equipment and summer camp, and make and purchase additions to uniforms for assemblies or other activities.

Cheerleading is an athletic event that requires certain skills, such as spirit, pep and enthusiasm.

Cheerleaders receive many valuable and rewarding educational experiences, which will be cherished through the years.

The smaller 26-member squad was only one of the many exciting changes Steppers went through. Because of the outstanding abilities of the second-year Steppers who tried out for positions of officers, there were four officers chosen instead of the traditional three. Tammy Powell was appointed Captain; Sherrie Quinn, Co-Captain; Karmin Rogers, Secretary; and Teresa Harne, Treasurer. The group also had a new sponsor, Mrs. Kim Danielson.

This was the first year the Steppers had two uniforms. One they purchased themselves, and wore when performing as an independent group. The other was a corps-style uniform which the Marching Scarlets purchased for them to wear when they performed as an auxiliary unit with the band.

The Steppers performed at assemblies, football and basketball games, and also marched in parades. One of the highlights of the year was their being chosen to perform at the High School Boys' Basketball jamboree sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for the benefit of handicapped children. The girls also acted as hostesses at many school functions, and were asked to be ushers for the Des Moines Symphony at the Civic Center.

COLOR GUARD OFFICERS. Flag Captain Cheryl Rodda, Treasurer Julie Bentall and Rifle Captain Jackie Harrington. All are seniors.

For the second consecutive year, Color Guard won first place in the Tall Flag Division of the Iowa State Drill Team Contest. The group took home a State Championship trophy and each member received a blue ribbon. The contest was held at Valley High School Saturday, December 6.

Color Guard started off the year with a new sponsor, Mr. Jim Bush, and new tall flags, swing flags and rifles.

Many hours of practice helped the group achieve precision in their performances. Color Guard performed at the football and basketball jamborees, assemblies and basketball games. They also performed as an auxiliary group with the band at football games, contests and parades.

From April 28 through May 2, Color Guard traveled with the Marching Scarlets on the annual spring trip. This year they went to Branson, Missouri. They performed near Branson at Silver Dollar City.

Drum major Wendy Behrendsen, band director Don Bury and drum major Tammy Roiland show off their third-place trophy.

Raring back for that last note at the Homecoming performance is junior Tom Mentzer.

If it's true that the early bird catches the worm, then the Marching Scarlets' 7 o'clock practices had a lot to do with their receiving their third consecutive division "1" rating at the state marching contest.

A week before the state contest, the Scarlets received a division "2" rating at the Valley Fest. Along with that, they received a third place overall trophy. That "2" rating compelled them to work even harder.

During those six days before the state contest, they worked diligently to improve their show; and that hard work paid off when they received a "1" rating, along with a score of 82.5, the highest score ever awarded to this group.

One of the main goals of this group every year is going on a spring trip. This year's trip included traveling to Branson, Missouri, and performing at Silver Dollar City. This was all a part of "The Band and Chorus Festival," with 20 bands and choruses participating. The Marching Scarlets opened Silver Dollar City that weekend.

In the opinion of Mr. Don Bury, director of the Marching Scarlets, this year's group "worked very hard and had a lot of spirit."

The Office Education Association helped develop leadership and civic and social responsibilities. Members gained confidence and production skills in office occupations.

These are some of the skills members of OEA learned, said Mr. Gene Wanek, sponsor of OEA. OEA was formed for students enrolled in the Office Education Program. The club met once a month during the Office Education class.

The officers for the club were president Gaylord Jolly, vice-president Denise Tellis, secretary Sue Terrell, treasurer Cheryl Ripperger and reporter James Martz.

DECA encouraged the study of the free-enterprise system.

Junior Achievement was a club for people interested in exploring the business world. Students formed a business and made and sold a product. The club met at the JA Center.

Quill
Staff

Writing copy and cropping pictures were among the many tasks of a Quill Staff member. About one-half the class is made up of seniors; the rest are juniors. This way half of the class returns in the fall to help in teaching the inexperienced juniors. It is required that a staff member have a "B" or better in English before he can take the class.

Adviser to the staff was Mr. George Christian, who has taught the class for 30 years, and has helped to create some outstanding yearbooks. Working with Mr. Christian are co-editors Kent Reed and Jane Messenger, seniors. They were selected last year by the staff.

Senior Kent Reed (Editor) calmly expresses his opinion of junior Laurie Green's bright idea.

Quill Staff

The Scroll Staff's diligent attempt to cover all the newsworthy events of the school year in the 12 issues distributed throughout the year was again successful, especially after taking the advisers advice about using more quotes and humor.

Also, the staff finally overcame the major problems of satisfying Mr. Detail and Mr. Deadline, which has been the problems of past Scroll Staffs.

The staff was headed by editors Kris Schroeder and Lisa Baker, seniors, in the first semester and by editors Tammy Powell and Wendy Behrendsen, seniors, in the second semester. The business managers were Kane Fairman and Gaylord Jolly, seniors.

Ad Club

Ad Sales Club was a unique group because it provided "on-the-job" training in sales by the actual selling of advertising space in the Quill. This involved going out into the community to sell ads during sales class time and on the students' personal time.

Each student received a 5 percent commission on his first $300 worth of sales. Commission was 7½ percent thereafter.

According to Mrs. Nancy Hansen, an adviser of the group, "Students many times are paid in cash for their sales, which indicates the trust the general public has in East High students."

The classroom aspect of ad sales involved face-to-face customer contacts. It also stressed dressing and conducting oneself properly while out selling.

Photographers

Mike Ingersoll, senior, proves that getting that perfect shot can be "for the birds."

The photographers, under the direction of Mr. John Lethcoe, spent many hours perfecting their pictures for both the Quill and the Scroll.

Ron Gee and Mike Lowe, both seniors, were the chief photographers for the Quill. The Scroll was led by Lon Newby, senior, and Laura Steward, junior.

Not only did the photographers have the job of taking the pictures; they also had to develop, print, and enlarge the carefully cropped prints.

Graphics

Many changes were made in the Graphics Department, with Mr. Bruce Hines teaching and supervising the class for the first semester, and Mr. Carroll Feters taking over in the second semester. Laying out and printing the Scroll Newspaper depended on the skilled students enrolled in the class. Printing 1 was a pre-requisite to the course: teaching the many different areas such as running the camera, laying out ads and pages for the Scroll, typesetting or printing on the small and large presses.

Assistants

Over 60 students have found time during their study halls to assist in many different offices around the school, earning one-quarter credit per semester. Their duties ranged from filing material and answering the telephone to locating and giving messages to students.

Organized and sponsored by Mr. John Raymond, English teacher, was the Film Club. The club, in short, was actually a "miniature Hollywood." Members studied and learned about the movie business. There were six members; these members included tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders.

Human Relations has been in existence since 1973. This group of students participated in activities that would help them understand better those around them. The group met at least once a month to discuss how to achieve their goals. Mr. Don Graves, school-community worker, was the sponsor. He helped them by guiding them through the difficulties they encountered.

UN Trip Upward Bound

Upward Bound was a program designed to help students go to college. It also showed students what college life was all about by sending them to Central College at Pella over the summer. There were ten members in the group. It was headed by Mrs. Vallery Griffis.

Thirty-five students represented East on the United Nations Tour. This annual event has been held since 1963.

The students who participated went to New York and Washington. In New York they visited the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building and, of course, the UN building. In Washington they saw many of the nation's government buildings.

The tour director was Mr. Stan Thompson, social science teacher.

Several trophies were brought home by the debate team under the leadership of the new debate coach, Mr. Edward Kelly. The debate team of 25 members traveled around the Midwest attending weekly tournaments.

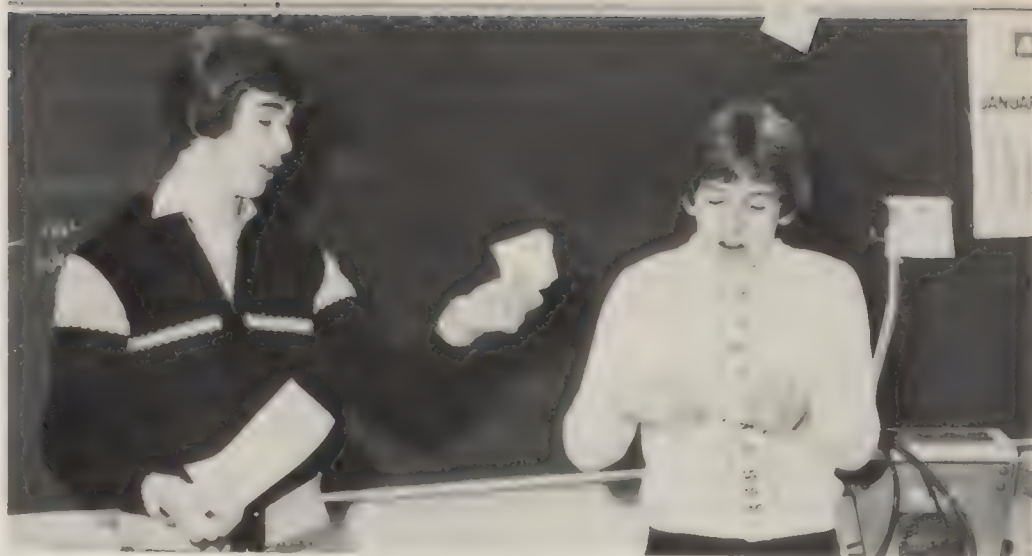

The topic of debate this year was "Educational Standards in U.S. Schools." Mr. Kelly feels that the main purpose of debating is to "promote the development of research skills and sharpen powers of intellect."

The three divisions of debaters were Novice — beginning debaters; Junior Varsity — intermediate debaters; and Varsity — most experienced debaters.

Selected as officers of the debate team were Candy Voshell, president; Floyd Bates, vice-president; Todd McIntire, secretary; and Mike Wynn, treasurer.

Silent Vibrations, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Ann Rhone, gave many performances. Keeping themselves busy, the mimes provided entertainment at assemblies, elementary schools, malls and libraries as well as for East Side organizations.

The 25 members were required to maintain a "C" average in addition to a good attendance record. As viewed by Mrs. Rhone, the purpose of Silent Vibrations is communication through body language. Members also felt that being a member improved self-images and discipline habits.

Strains of music echoed through the halls. The Chamber Singers were at work.

Some of the things Miss Linda Chamberlin, director, looked for when choosing members were a good voice, the ability to read music well, acting ability and the dependability and co-operative spirit of the person.

The Chamber Singers were kept busy with two performances of the Madrigal dinner, three performances of the musical play "The Pajama Game" and many concerts.

The Chamber Singers, known last year as the Scarlet Music Company, changed their name to fit the type of music they were singing, which was renaissance and baroque music. In the spring, when they sang pop music, they took back the name of the Scarlet Music Company.

Miss Chamberlin said, "We're all very excited about the new format of the class. I enjoyed working with the class, even though it was larger than usual and we're looking forward to trying new and varied things."

Wanting to sing and learn about their voices, plus no required audition, were some of the things that attracted people to Scarlet Choir and Scarlet Music Makers.

Because the Scarlet Choir was so big, a new group was formed, the Scarlet Music Makers. The Scarlet Choir was made up of both boys and girls, while the Scarlet Music Makers were all girls.

Both groups performed at the area junior highs. They also performed in a fall concert and two spring con- certs.

The time is the fourteenth century, Medieval England. A boar's head, the rarest dish in all the land, is brought before the King. A bowl of exotic fruits sits on the beautifully enhanced table. Gold mugs and silver platters gleam in the soft light . . .

This was the setting for a new addition to the department's many shows, the Madrigal dinner. A Madrigal Dinner is where a King and his Royal Court enjoy a meal of rarities. About 300 people attended the show, and all seemed impressed. The main royalties were the King, portrayed by Chris Jones, and the Queen, played by Linda Logsdon. Bert Reeves was the Jester, and the Troubador was Mark Morris. The price per ticket was $6, which included a six-course meal.

Many left the show that night feeling as if they had really been in the court of royalty. Perhaps they had been.

Juniors Floyd Bates and Byron Ricks add to the show with their trumpets.

Junior DeLora Jones, senior Linda Logsdon, junior Mark Moris and senior Don Jaques delight the audience with their songs of rejoicing.

Sixty-five singers were selected by Ms. Linda Chamberlin, by auditions, to make the Concert Choir. The Concert Choir had many performances during the year.

The Concert Choir performed at three junior highs: Amos Hiatt, May Goodrell and Hoyt. The Concert Choir's main objective was to show the students how much fun and hard work choir can be.

The Concert Choir presented two other concerts, one in February and another in May. Highlighting the choir's year was an awards banquet, where many students receive soloist awards, and some students received "silly" and "crazy" awards.

After the marching season was over, the band took to the indoors. The members of the Concert Band and Wind Ensemble practiced and polished their music for their concert Feb. 2 with soloist junior Kim Welch, flute.

During the basketball season, the Pep Band played for home games. The Pep Band was made up of volunteers from Wind Ensemble and Concert Band.

Later the Wind Ensemble and Concert band combined and practiced for the spring trip to Branson, Mo., where the band showed its pride at the performance at Silver Dollar City.

The Orchestra plucked out another musical year. Seven members strong, the orchestra was small enough to give Mr. Don Bury, director, a chance to compose and arrange some of their music.

The Wind Ensemble was made up of 65 of the best musicians, chosen by try-outs. Each marching band member was given a page of sheet music for his instrument. When try-outs came, everyone had an equal chance at a Wind Ensemble seat.

Wind Ensemble and Concert Band alternated rehearsal times weekly. (7:30-8:15 and 8:15-9)

The bands received a trophy case December 15 from the parent who built it, Mr. Gary Larson. It was displayed in the band office. The bands also bought drum cases, drum covers and a soprano saxophone.

When asked if there were any outstanding members in the ensemble, Mr. Donald Bury, director, named junior Kim Welch, flute. Others cited were seniors Don Jaques, Jim Karrett (saxophones) and John Gaffney (trumpet).

zz Band

To play present-day music and learn to play all popular styles was the purpose of this year's Jazz band. Twenty-two members made up the band, and they had a very busy schedule. They played in six contests in Iowa and Missouri cities.

Mr. Don Bury, director, believes that being in the band helps the student to perfect his individual abilities. That was the case when two seniors, James Karret and Don Jaques, received individual soloist awards. The entire band was honored by being chosen to participate in the State Jazz Band Contest.

Senior Don Jaques practices one of his solos for an upcoming performance.

It takes the recommendation of the director, above-average playing and, finally, acceptance by a committee to make it into an honor band. Eleven instrumentalists made it through those steps and into the honor bands this year.

Students participated in three different honor bands: Drake Double Winds Ensemble, Iowa State University Honor Band and the University of Iowa Honor Band. Two seniors, Don Jaques and James Karret, were selected to participate in all three honor bands. Showing his outstanding talent, James captured first chair at the Drake Double Winds Ensemble.

diving school provided competition for the Scuba Club in the game of underwater hockey.

Did you put away your swimsuit after school started because of the colder weather, and competitive swimming just isn't your cup of tea? There was another alternative.

The Scuba Club was active again this year under the sponsorship of Mr. Ken Gaeth. Practicing scuba diving skills, while playing the game of underwater hockey, was the group's main activity. Competition was provided by the Iowa State skin-diving team.

If you have ever received a letter for your participation in varsity sports or music, then you were part of the Letterwinners' Club. The sponsor of the club was Mr. John Bankus.

The main activity was the selling of programs at the Boys' State Basketball Tournament.

Bankus takes helm; gridders respond well

Impressive.

That's a word that describes the job Mr. John Bankus did as he stepped in as head varsity coach and led the team to a four-win, four-loss season.

Highlighting the high-powered offense was senior running back Greg Patton. Patton gained over 1,000 yards rushing and scored 13 touchdowns by running through holes created by senior tackle Bill O'Boyle and senior end Don Shultice. All three players gained first-team All-Metro recognition.

Keying the tough defense were seniors Keith Wilson, defensive back, and John Huebner, defensive tackle.

Senior Keith Wilson sets off on a punt return in a 40-25 defeat against arch-rival Dowling.

Bone-crushing season slows inexperienced freshman team

Where's the protection when you need it?

That was a question asked by some freshman football players. They were "plagued by injuries," their coach, Mr. Mark Hurley, said. Accidents happening early in the season at practices, and off-the-field mishaps, made up a total of six broken bones by the end of the season. This was the first year any bad injuries occurred.

Coach Hurley was assisted by Mr. Bob Carmichael. Together they taught the freshmen the basics of the game. The team, though physically smaller than past teams, had strength in their defensive linebackers.

The Scarlets dominated the field during their game with Lincoln and also got the best of North and Tech in those games.

Manager Teri DeReus, Lisa Formaro and Tina Sepich aided the coaches with the team. Their duties ranged from taping ankles to cheering their team on to victory.

Speedy sophs play hard to show abilities

The sophomore football team worked hard and played hard to show their outstanding abilities. Their coach, Mr. Chuck Sutherland, said that the team had good speed and strength. Mr. David Frost assisted Mr. Sutherland throughout the season.

Thirty-six players were selected from the 42 who tried out. "They had a good attitude and were willing to work," Coach Sutherland said when asked to comment on the team.

Harriers fare well for East; two to State

As the season progressed, Coaches Don Graves and Dick Phipps sensed that this wasn't going to be an ordinary year for their cross country and distance running teams. This held true as both teams concluded their season by sending a runner to the state meet.

Competing against runners statewide were senior Caesar Smith and sophomore Jennifer Hultman. Both had impressive season records and put in a lot of hard work, as did some 18 other team members.

The highlight of the season, as observed by Coach Graves, was the Cardinal Invitational, where the two teams place third and both Jennifer and Caesar broke the tape at the finish line.

Fifteen boys and five girls sweated out the season; six were returning letterwinners. Exceptional talent was also demonstrated by seniors Matt Moberg and Russ Watson, junior Mark Morris and sophomore Chris Zallek.

All of the sweat certainly paid off for senior Caesar Smith as he collected trophy after trophy this year. Caesar was crowned Metro champ and went on to place fifth in statewide competition.

Junior Karla Erickson expresses the anguish of the last few minutes of a grueling two-mile race.

Girls' swimming dives into winning season

The sweet taste of victory hit the girls' swimming team after a victorious season. With two swimmers going to state competition, and several varsity records being broken, the hard work paid off.

Swimmers Heidi Hecker and Karen Weiland qualified for the state meet. Junior Heidi Hecker placed second in the one-meter dive, while sophomore Karen Weiland place twentieth in the 100-yard breast-stroke. Heidi also received a score of 432.75 for eleven dives, which qualified her for consideration for the All-American Team. Karen broke her old record for the 100-yard breast-stroke.

The team's terrific spirit and enthusiasm gave them their much sought reward: a winning season.

Volleyballers spike their way; 39 girls makeup two teams

What do junior Ilze Kalnins and senior Debbie Pfundheller have in common?

The answer to this mind-boggling question is that they were the top two members of the volleyball team. The varsity team included 12 girls and the junior varsity team included 27.

The coaches were Erma Grabill and Cherie Mortice. The coaching was good and the team had a good season, but most important, the girls had a lot of fun trying to win.

Freshman girls' team drives to the hoop

The future of East High girl's basketball will continue to be bright with talent from the 1981-2 freshman teams.

The "A" team had talented forwards. Josetta Rankin averaged 20 points per game, Marjorie Glynn 13, Tammy Brooks 11, and Natali Justiniano 10.

Outstanding guards for the "A" team were Terri De Reus, Alycia Simpson, Nicole Walker and Tiffany Poston.

The "B" team continued to improve throughout the season with forwards Dianna Harris and Tina Sepich. Guards Daleen Bullard and Jessica Gogerty were assets to the team.

The "A" and "B" teams worked and practiced intensely under the coaching of Mr. John Latcham. Coach Latcham stressed teamwork and devoting one's mind fully to the game.

After the starters were chosen, the reserves were given the incentive to prove their playing ability. By doing this coach Latcham had full use of the bench; this also gave everyone playing time.

Throughout the season many players scored in double figures each game.

Soph girls capture Metro crown again

The girls' sophomore basketball team won the Metro Conference Championship for the fourth consecutive year. They accomplished this with a Metro record of 12 wins and 2 losses.

With a total of 530 points for the season, Robin Reese set an East High sophomore record.

Head Coach Gary Brand cited the overall lack of size among the team members as the team's greatest weakness. Coach Brand felt that the even balance between the forward and guard courts was one of the main strengths this team possessed.

'Scrappy Scarlets' come through in '82

Offensive coach Bob Hanson explains the plays and strategies to the forwards.

Defensive coach Sharon Hanson goes over the defensive plays with the guard court.

This was the year for challenges for the varsity girls' basketball team. At the beginning of the season, the team and coaches set four of the toughest goals that any team has had to face. They wanted to win the Lincoln Tournament, Polk County Tournament, Metro and State. Said Head Coach Bob Hanson: "I feel that we accomplished all four goals."

The team ended the season with a record of 26 wins and 3 losses. Out of 29 games, 17 of the opponents were rated in the top 20 in the state.

This team had no superstars. There was a balance in the talent of both the guards and forwards. None of the guards were very big, but they were the scrappiest bunch around. The team played with all their heart in every game.

All of their hard work paid off when they finally made it to the State finals. They fell one point short of winning the State Championship, but they never gave up, even when the final buzzer sounded.

They held their heads high even in defeat. They had made the whole state proud of the way they played.

East girls are always Number 1 with us

At last, their dream came true. They made it to the final game of the Sweet Sixteen Tournament. This is what every young girl dreams about when she is out on the basketball court. Who were the girls lucky enough to play af Vets? Why, it was our varsity girls' team, of course.

They battled against the odds all year, and their hard work paid off for them. The tournament this year had 16 well-balanced teams. There wasn't one team that was better than any other. All of the games were exciting from beginning to end.

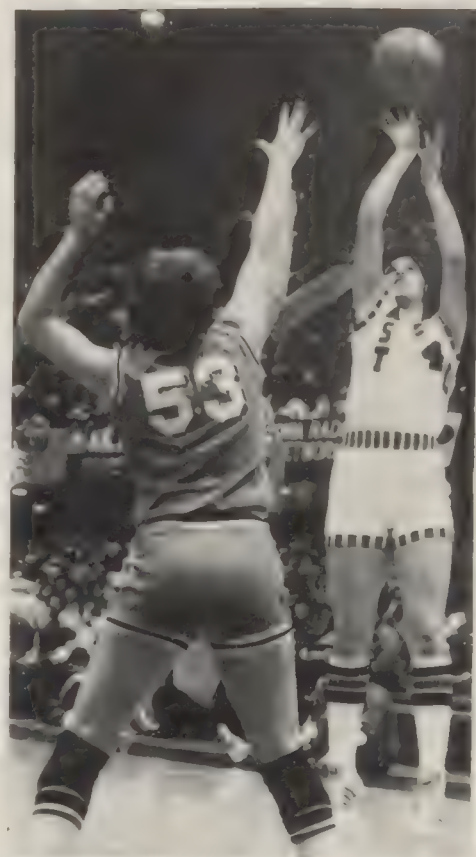

They started off playing the No. 1 rated team in the state, which was Mediapolis. They went on to win that game. Head Coach Bob Hanson said, "The guard court played the most outstanding game I have seen in a state tournament." East was victorious in their next two games over Winfield-Mt. Union and Fairfield. The next game was against Estherville for the State Championship. We lost a heartbreaker to them by one point.

For a team that wasn't even supposed to have a winning season, they did a great job in proving that they were one of the top teams in the state of Iowa. Being ranked second in the state is nothing to be ashamed about. They brought so much pride and dignity to their families, friends, school, community, and of course, to themselves.

No one will ever forget East High at the State Tourney. Fans came with painted faces, painted hair, crazy clothes and all their support for their team. A roar went up every time the team made a great play, a roar which could be heard almost all over the state.

The fans thanked the team for giving them a chance to have so much fun, and the team thanked the fans for giving them so much support. This is one tournament that the team and the coaches will never forget. The things that will always stick in their minds will be all the great fans, and having the rare opportunity to play in the state finals. In the final game, East proved that they were "Lee Township Against the World."

Scarlet boys pull together, knock off two top contenders

After struggling through a mediocre first half of the season, the boys' varsity basketball team pulled together for a strong finish.

The team's drive at the end of the season included victories over highly ranked Roosevelt and Ankeny on successive nights. The boys also defeated Lincoln and Tech before finally falling to Roosevelt, 66-57, in the District final.

The team's eight seniors logged most of the playing time and should be credited with most of the team's success throughout the season. The seniors providing most of the leadership and experience were Lon Newby, captain, and Curtis Morrow.

Big things were expected from the team by Coach Chuck Sutherland and the Des Moines Register before the season. The Register ranked them number 10 in the state in their pre-season poll. An early season loss knocked them out of the ratings, but they did receive "top contender" recognition after the big upsets of Roosevelt and Ankeny.

Individual awards were given to three team members. Curtis Morrow was selected to the coaches' All-Metro first team, Lon Newby to the second team and Chris Spohr to the third team.

Bill Kearbey, senior, follows through on a jump shot in a 53-52 loss at Valley.

Senior Jay Fisher sinks one of the 11 free throws he made against Lincoln in a 57-43 win.

Girl gymnasts flip their way to good year

Nine returning team members helped lead the gymnastics team to another successful season. Coached by Mrs. Joyce Vickroy, the team's greatest strengths were the floor exercise, the uneven bars and the vault.

According to Coach Vickroy, competition is getting tougher every year. Regional competition was tougher than ever before. Despite the competition, five girls managed to advance to Regionals.

Scarlet Tankers

Scarlet swimmers succeed in specialty events

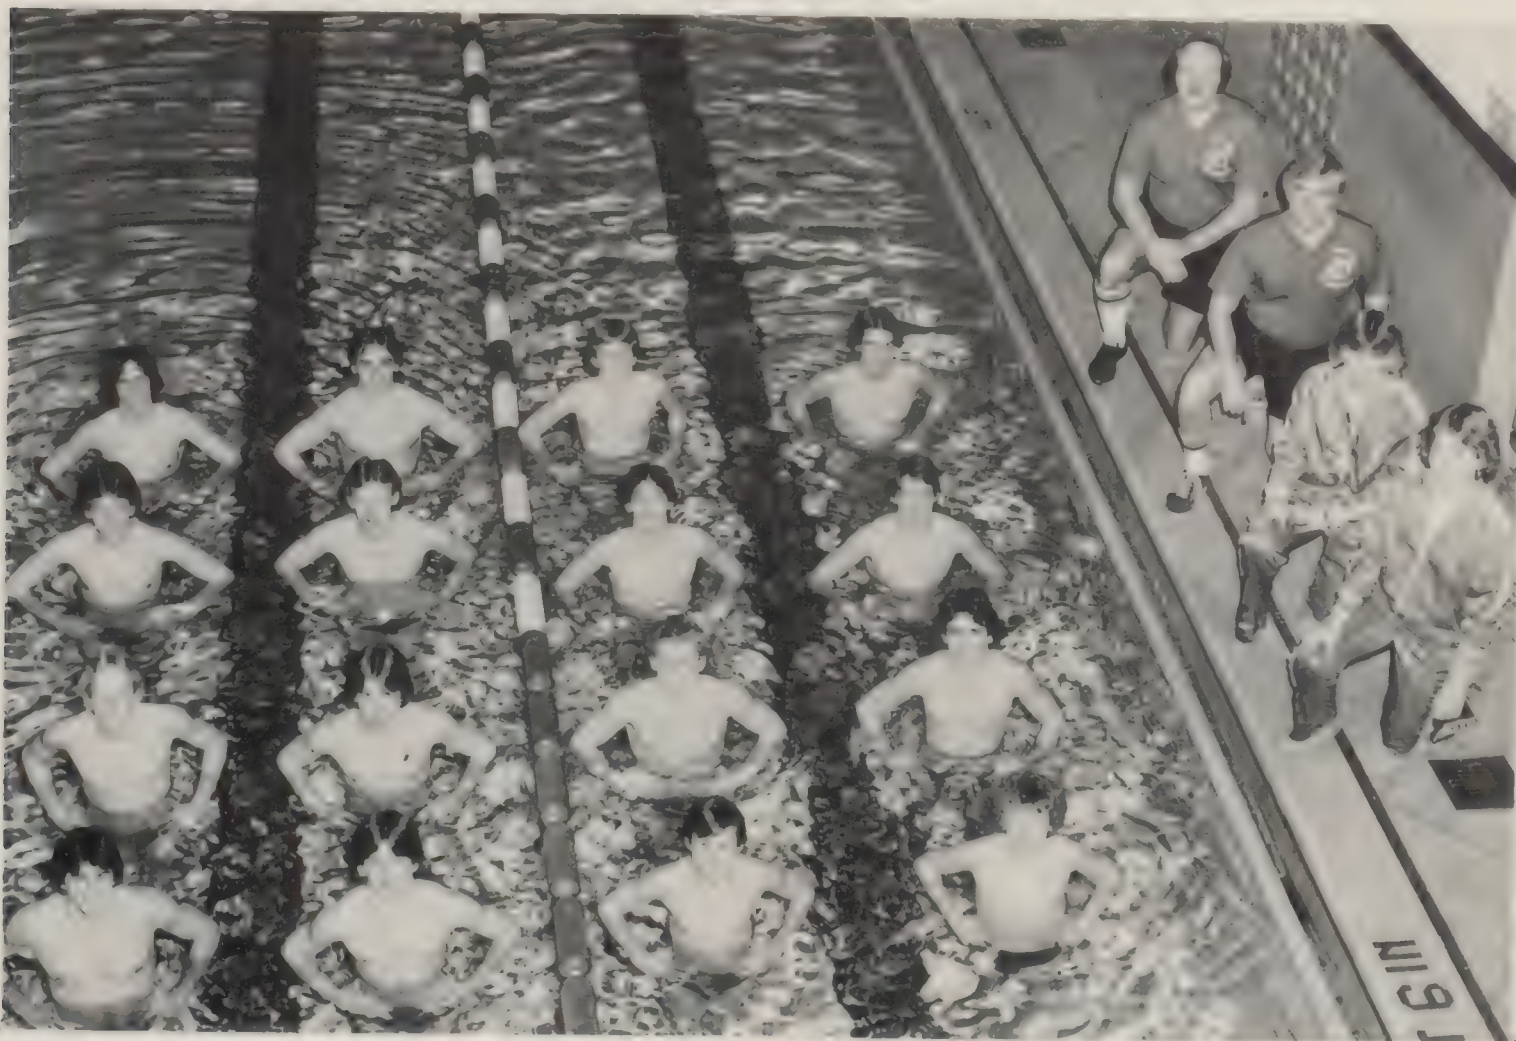

Specialty events — backstroke, breast stroke, butterfly and individual medley — were the strengths of the Scarlet tankers this year. Mr. Ken Gaeth coached the team that put in hours of hard work and competed in many swim meets.

Highlights for the team included the dual meet with Lincoln, the Southeast Polk Invitational and the District meet (where most of the swimmers had their best times.)

Some individuals mentioned by Mr. Gaeth for their outstanding ability were sophomore Steve Swan in the butterfly, sophomore Jeff Richards in the breast stroke, senior Greg Hill in distance events, sophomore Shawn Nelson in the backstroke, senior Jeff Mumma in the sprints and senior Russ Watson in the breast stroke and individual medley.

Capturing the title of best all-around swimmer was sophomore Steve Swan. The two most improved swimmers were sophomores Tim Young and Shawn Nelson, according to Mr. Gaeth.

Fifteen freshmen, ten sophomores, ten juniors and two seniors composed the '81-'82 wrestling team. Lacking experience, they learned quickly and developed skills that gave them a 4-5 season record.

"They were younger and less experienced than teams in the past, but they showed maturity and wrestled well," said Head Coach Tom Lutz. Assisting Mr. Lutz were Mr. Steve Hanson, Mr. Gayle Burgett and junior Laura Steward, manager.

Sophomore Jimmy Torres qualified for state competition, weighing only 98 pounds. He was the only East wrestler to qualify for state.

... And if I do, stand up and cheer, I get to go here one more year . . .

Principal & Board of Directors

Kids at East are great, according to Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal. Mrs. Prior came to East High this year from Brody Junior High.

Mrs. Prior saw no large problems in the principal's office this year. She said it was just a matter of learning how to react in her new position.

She mentioned that some things, such as textbook purchases, class size and class offerings were affected by the recent financial cuts in school budgets. But she emphasized that the quality of education was not being affected.

Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, concentrates on some of the work she must get through.

William Anderson (Superintendent). ROW 2: Mr. William Keck, Mr. Frank Hildreth, Mrs. Sue Luthens, Mrs. Karen Williams, Mr. Raymond Palis.

Vice- Principals

A new advisor was added to the staff this year. Mr. Gary Eyerly, tenth grade adviser, replaced Mr. Bill McCollaugh, who became acting principal at Goodrell Junior High.

One of the advisers' projects was to rewrite the student handbook. The vice-principals also went into freshman world history classes to discuss the discipline policy.

Mr. Al Bagdonas, senior class adviser, said that the discipline and vandalism problems were not as bad as in past years. However, he also said that smoking seemed to be a bigger problem.

Mr. Don Powell, vice-principal, works to get through some of his paperwork.

Mr. Gary Eyerly, vice-principal, discusses the discipline policy with freshmen.

While hurrying to get on to something else, Mr. Al Bagdonas, vice-principal, misses a step and drops his books, costing him more precious time.

Counselors

Many students frequently visited the counseling office to find help with their everyday problems and help that would make a difference in their future lives.

There was less time for the counselors to do their work and less time for them to spend with each individual student because the ratio of students to counselors was over 500 to 1.

Although it was a difficult task, the Counseling Department maintained its quality.

Highlighting the counselors' year was the fact that both students and teachers were very pleased with Mrs. Barbara Prior, the new principal. Good spirit and high morale were maintained the whole year through.

The reason the counselors chose counseling as a career was that they feel that students are handicapped if they do not receive an education.

Mr. Don DeMouth, chairman of the Counseling Department, helps two Iowa State ambassadors tell seniors Marla Ford, Diane Reynolds, John Walling and Jackie Harrington about Iowa State University.

Mrs. Norma Needham talks to senior Ken Wilson about financing his college education.

Counselors Harold Baeth and Gordon Opel encourage juniors Eric Dubois and Terry

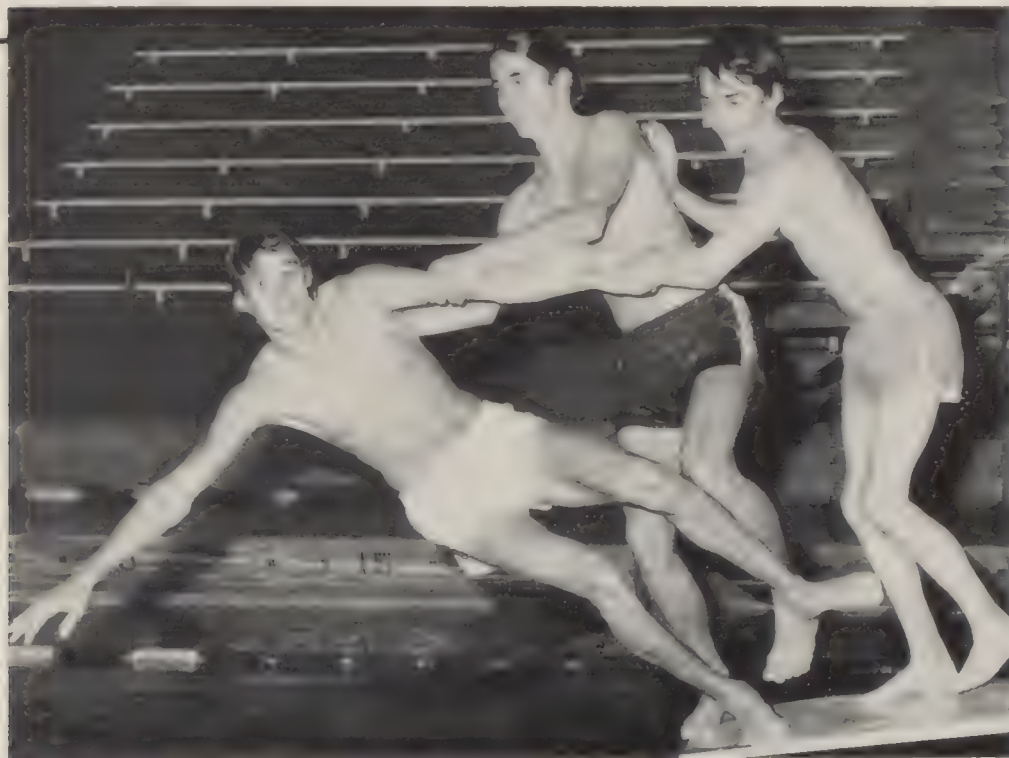

McCarl and senior Wilbur Shaw to clean up their mess at lunch.

Physical Education

game of water basketball during recreational swimming.

Helping the students maintain physical fitness was the purpose of the Physical Education Department. They also tried to help students appreciate leisure time and use it wisely.

Less variety and fewer courses could be offered because of staff reductions in the department. Associating with students, being outside and working with one another were reasons the staff enjoyed their work.

Considering limitations caused by staff reduction and limited space, the staff felt they had a fine department and had done a good job.

Comm. Media

Communications Media includes four areas: journalism, photography, printing and television.

Journalism dealt with writing copy, headlines and captions; copyreading; proofreading; and layouts.

Photography involved taking and enlarging pictures for the newspaper and the yearbook.

Printing taught the students how to make paste-ups from photography material for printing plates and printing material. The major publications they printed were the Scroll Newspaper and the PTSA Bulletin.

Television involved script writing for television shows and commercials, which students taped and produced themselves.

Senior Ronda Sappenfield instructs seniors Cheryl Rodda, Julie Bentol (hidden) and Jackie Harrington to get the perfect picture.

Juniors Missi Gilbert and Marcus Emery work together on cropping pictures to meet their up-coming deadline.

Special Education

The mystery of the third floor. To some people the third floor is a scary place to be. But let's set the story straight. The floor is like any other floor: rooms, teachers and students; but these are students with a learning, emotional or mental disability. A majority of the students had a learning disability, especially in reading and math, and had a special class one or two periods a day. The emotionally and mentally disabled students had a "work-study" program.

The method of teaching is primarily oral, with some reading. The other classes that were available were Multicategorical, New Horizons and CLUE (Career Laboratories Utilizing Experience).

Integrating computers into math? That was what Mrs. Vernice Kingsbury, chairman of the Mathematics Department, was trying to teach her students this year.

Because of all the advancements of math through the years, the teaching of math in schools must also advance, since math is sometimes a very complex and complicated subject. Math is almost a necessity of life. People use figures and fractions every day; that is why students take advanced courses even after their one-year required math course.

Freshmen Jodie Schatz and Kendra Olson spend some of their class time working out math problems on the board.

Mr. Marvin Simonsen takes time out from teaching algebra to give one of the photographers a contemplative pose.

Mrs. Vernice Kingsbury shows her students the correct way to do a math problem. Pictured are Bernard Lettington, Mark Overton, Jennifer Brown, Andy Davison, Kim Hoffman and Mary Burgess.

Math

Discovery . . . one of the new concepts of teaching science. This was the teaching method emphasized by Mr. Paul Sloan, chairman of the Science Department, and other science teachers.

Science is more and more important to students every year because of the new methods and technology used by scientists today.

In order to graduate, a student must have one full credit of science.

Danny Jessen, Todd Renda and David Trotter use their time in science class to work on a lab project.

Mr. Paul Sloan, science teacher, shows his students the structure of man.

Dwight Patton, Rod Grafton and Loren Jacobson spend their time in science class experimenting on a project for chemistry.

Senior Jill Sietkas tinkers with her car in the auto shop garage. Working on your own car not only educates you, but can also save you money. Auto shop is just one of the classes here at East that teaches mechanical skills.

A student is driving along when out pops a pedestrian between two parked cars. Instead of hitting the brakes, the student accidentally steps on the gas.

No problem. Luckily it was just the "simulator," in which a trailer simulating real-life driving situations is located. Lectures, films and text exercises were also included.

But simulated driving was not the only training students received. They also drove a real car with the instructor. This training was counted as a class and therefore counted as one-fourth of a credit.

Sophomore Monika Watson prepares to receive her driver's license from the Iowa Department of Transportation office.

Senior Rick Kimmel learns that the "E" on the gas gauge means "empty," not "extra." Luckily, he had a gas can in the trunk of his car.

Driver Education

Senior Roger Krohn shouts instructions to fellow senior Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corp member Kevin Honts.

About face, forward march! These and other orders were heard ringing throughout the halls after school and outside on the campus.

Giving and receiving such orders were the students in the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps. This program included over 100 students, and that number increases every year. Although there was no military obligation after the course was completed, many of these students go on to be future protectors of America.

The AFJROTC members had a hair code and were required to wear their uniforms once a week. Students who took this course received a P.E. credit and an elective credit.

To update the Business Department and to provide for a large enrollment, the department purchased several new items. Bought by the department were two electric typewriters, several new calculators and many textbooks. For the first time, the Advanced Basic Computer course students were able to have the use of a course book.

New Business Law books were also purchased so the course could be updated, because of constantly changing law.

In spite of the new equipment, Mr. Gene Wanek, chairman of the Business Department, said that the department is still short on equipment. Calculators, transcribers (dictation machines) and textbooks are the main needs of the department. Because of these shortages, students worked on three or four projects at the same time on a rotation basis.

Trips to banks and insurance companies were taken throughout the year and there were state contests and employee-employer banquets for the Office Education students and Distributive Education Clubs of America members.

English

Cathy Hildebrand and Kerri Schake, sophomores, and Tammy Awkerman, senior, practice for one of the scenes in the Silent Vibes show they are to produce.

It has been said that English is an old-fashioned subject. That, however, was not true this year, because the English Department underwent significant changes.

For the first time in many years, students in eleventh grade were required to take one semester of English. A combination of literature and composition makes up the curriculum of the course, which is now mandatory for graduation.

In order to get a better idea of how East students were progressing, two district-wide tests were given. Freshmen took a new exam designed to determine their ability in the composition area. Objective-based tests were also given to all ninth and tenth graders.

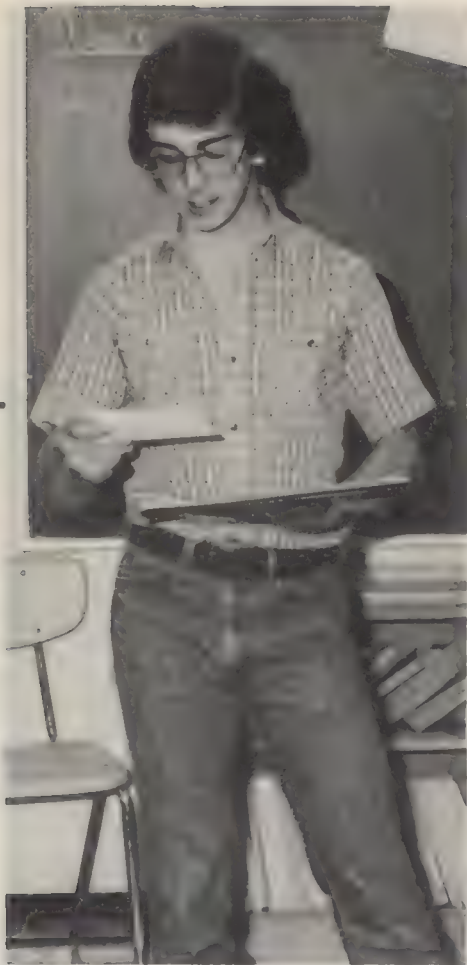

Following in the footsteps of other departments before it, the English Department is still working on teaching the basics: grammar, reading and writing.

All of these changes may exemplify what Mr. James Tredway, chairman of the department, says, "Students seem to be taking school more seriously."

Jane Messenger, Tammy Powell and Barb Wolver, seniors, try, without much success, to take seriously the reading of "Hamlet" in their rhetoric class.

"Yoo-hoo," calls Mr. Jack Oxenreider to one of the persistent calls interrupting his junior English class.

Linda Smyser and Randy Reynolds, sophomores, try to get a head start on some of the homework they have just been assigned.

Art

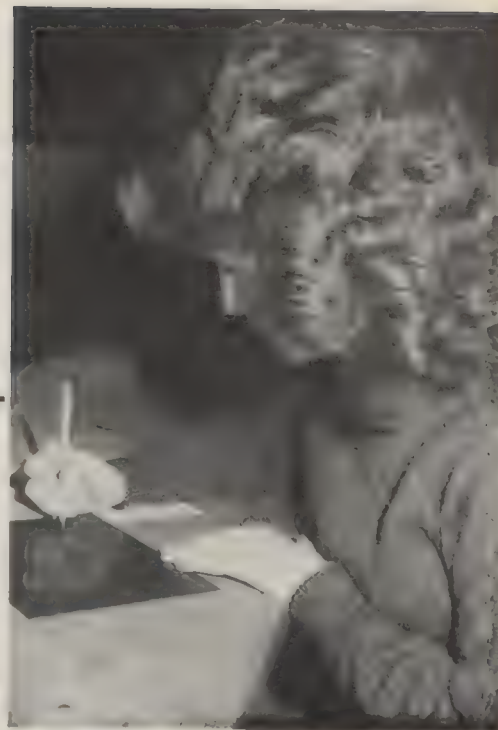

Increasing enrollment was the good news for the Art Department. The department increased its enrollment from 200 to 300 students.

Students learned skills in drawing, print-making, ceramics, sculpture and several other fundamental areas. Displaying these skills at the annual Brandeis Show was one of the highlights of the year.

Expansion of facilities, with better ventilation and better equipment for jewelry classes, was a need of the department.

Junior Denise Spaw shows her artistic ability by doing print-making.

Many artists did quality work throughout this year. Senior Bill O'Boyle did the drawing shown here.

Music

Sophomore Denise Gillum sings heartily during choir practice.

Ringing. Yes, East High was ringing with music as the different band and choirs went into full swing throughout the year.

Contests came frequently for the Instrumental Music Department and kept students "on the ball." Highlighting the year was the spring trip to Branson, Missouri, where the band was able to show off its talents and have a "fun" little vacation as the same time.

While the Instrumental Music Department was constantly preparing for contests, the Vocal Music Department was preparing for performances.

Library

"Students visit us periodically," according to Mrs. June Kalsem, head librarian, who said, "We have at least 150 students walk through the doors each day."

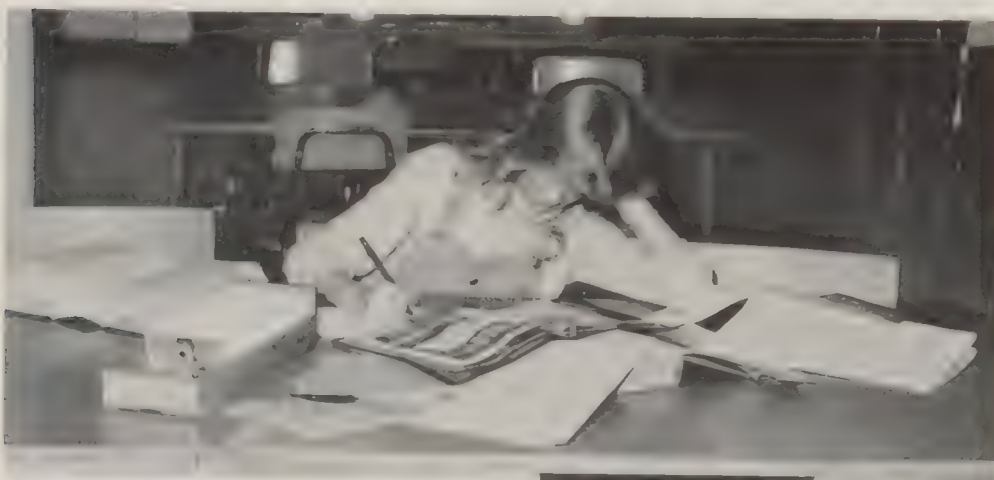

Adequate information is supplied through the 18,000 books, 1,000 of which were purchased this year. Subscriptions to 135 magazines and 7 newspapers has made East's library a repository of knowledge.

Gifts and donations from Pep "E" Club, the Senior Class and various other organizations compensated for budget cuts.

Using her woman's intuition and all the resources she could find in the EHS library, senior Cherie Richardson prepares a book report.

Foreign Languages.

Hayrack rides, ski trips, and Worlds of Fun highlighted the lives of students who took French. A lot of hard work and ambition prepared these students to be able to speak French in a land where French would be the dominant language.

Mexican food and fiestas enchanted the Spanish students. They attended the Ballet Folklorico Mexicano at Roosevelt High School, Wednesday, Sept. 30.

Various special activities and events made all the hard work and studying worthwhile.

Social Science

Senior Kent Reed gazes through his many years of studies to learn and understand how the different facts stack up.

Economics. Government. World History. Sociology. Psychology.

These are the major areas in the Social Science Department that were studied throughout the year.

"We are trying to make kids aware that all people have a dignity," Mr. Jim Bush, head of the Social Science Department, said.

The main goal was to teach students to appreciate the past, understand the present and prepare for the future.

U.S. History students get into a heated discussion over recent current events.

Social Science

Parent panels, nursery school, guest speakers.

These are just a few of the many activities in the Home Economics Department.

Although budget cuts affected the Home Ec. Department, Miss Erma Grabill, chairman, said, "The entire effects of the budget cuts haven't been felt yet."

Revising and updating the curriculum seemed to be part of the reason for the light effects of the budget cuts.

Sophomores Arte Ousley and Shawn Reynolds mix it up during home economics. The Food and Nutrition course teaches students how to prepare meals.

Sophomore Jeff Watson happily eats what he has made.

Senior Gene Cosner constructs a C-clamp in his Machine Tools class, taught by Mr. Darrell Mommer, head of the Industrial Arts Department.

The Industrial Arts Department proved to be a very busy place this year in spite of the budget cuts.

Working with metal, making furniture, remodeling a house, making three-dimensional drawings and finding out what makes cars run were just a few of the things going on in the Industrial Arts classes this year.

One of the biggest problems this year was repairing hand tools and working around the limitations placed on the usage of the machines.

Mr. Russell Junck shows senior Bob Terry and junior Tim Rounds the expertise of tuning up a car with the Sun machine in Beginning Auto.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Traci Collins, Kirk Larson, Kane Fairman and Lori Dawson.

Senior Class has busy 1981-2 agenda

The seniors started the year with the class officers' sign-up Sept. 21-25. Sept. 28 was the class officers' primary election. The final election was Oct. 5. Senior Board sign ups were Oct. 12. "One Step Closer" was the theme of the Homecoming Dance Oct. 17.

Senior Board primary election was Oct. 19. Oct. 26 was the Senior Board final election. On Jan. 2, "12 B," the senior dance, was held at the Airport Inn; the theme was "Through the Eyes of Love."

January graduates were measured for their cap and gowns on Jan. 12, and May graduates were measured for their cap and gowns Feb. 3. The Spinster Spree was held Feb. 6; the Spree's theme was "Rainbow Connection."

The seniors and the faculty tipped off at the annual senior-faculty basketball game March 3. On April 8, the seniors had their annual Senior Breakfast.

On May 15, the Senior Prom was held at the Hotel Savery. May 6 was the Alumni Dinner. As the year drew to an end, the seniors were confronted with finals May 17, 18, and 19. After finals were over, the seniors had Class Day rehearsal May 20.

The following day was Class Day, May 21. Commencement was practiced and performed May 26, at Veteran's Auditorium.

Long-awaited graduation day finally arrives

The moment they had been waiting for finally came for some 419 seniors. Graduations ceremonies were held on May 26 at Veterans' Memorial Auditorium.

Some of the seniors completed their course work at the end of the first semester in January. The rest of the graduating seniors completed high school life in May.

It was time to move on for the class of '82. Most students had some type of employment or post-high school education in mind.

Seniors date to search for perfect mate

The high cost of living did not seem to keep seniors from seeing their girlfriends or boyfriends outside of school. People seemed to be spending more time together at one another's houses and not going out as often.

Girls were also taking an occasional turn at paying for a date. Couples often went to the football or basketball game and out to eat on Friday night and to a movie or party on Saturday night.

Senior Board plans various class activities

The Senior Board which included 13 members, was voted in on Oct. 26. The board was established to represent the Senior Class. Led by Kirk Larson, President, and Mr. Al Bagdonas, adviser, the board was very successful.

The Senior Board was in charge of all the senior activities and money-making methods. Activities included helping out with the cap-and-gown measurements, the senior-faculty basketball game, Senior Breakfast, the Prom and the Alumni Dinner.

The Senior Board discussed their plans in meetings held before school in the office of Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal. These meetings were important because they gave the board a chance to report their progress in specific areas of responsibility. The Senior Board also had the responsibility of choosing the class gift for the school.

Seniors Teresa Harne, Sue Bell, Doug Layton and Kirk Larson meet with Mr. Al Bagdonas, Adviser, to plan Senior Board Activities.

Johnny Guy Milligan, son of Ms. Shirley Wilson and Mr. Gordon Milligan, died on Nov. 30, 1981, after a long battle against cancer. He had four brothers: Gordon, Roy, Danny and David; one step-brother, Ronnie; one sister, Becky; and a step-sister, Brenda.

John was involved in many activities. He was an honorary member of the East High varsity football team, a member of the East Des Moines Boxing Club and an assistant baseball coach at Fairground Little League. He enjoyed riding motorcycles and playing pool. He also spent a lot of time with his family and friends.

John had many friends who will miss him dearly, but they will never forget all of the memorable times they spent with him.

In Memory of John Milligan

*The rain is pouring down
As we all sit around,
Sharing our memories of you:
The good, the fun, the few.*

*Your departure has left us sad,
Realizing the fun we never had
Will never, ever come true
For us or for you.*

*We'll remember the last time
That we saw your smile.
We'll remember the last day
That you passed our way.*

*We just can't believe
That you had to leave:
A young man so full of zest
Now laid down for eternal rest.*

*The thunder clashes and the wind blows . . .
But in our hearts your memory holds.*

*So don't fret, dear John.
Even though you are gone,
In our hearts
You'll live on and on . . .*

*—By Melody Little,
Missi Gilbert*

In memory of Mike Moore

*Each day brings a new tomorrow.
Each day holds an amount of sorrow,
But we know we can face each day
If only our memory of him will always stay.*

*He tried so hard in his life span
To give to all the traits of a man,
And in his way you could see his power
Of physical strength, an unbending tower.*

*His talents were varied, his faults very few.
He gave his whole being a friend to those he knew.
He had defeats, but they made him strong.
Very seldom was he even wrong.*

*A friend who smiled and warmed our hearts,
Held out his hand, helped us to start
To walk life's highway, on which so much depends:
Hands clasped together with God's gift of our friend.*

*A special "hello" as we passed in the hall
Or a happy event that some may recall:
Respect and love for him can be easily shown.
If he could see it now, "He's not alone."*

Rest in peace, Mike

—By Melody Little

Michael John Moore, son of Rusty and Karen Moore, died on August 13, 1981, as the result of injuries suffered from a moped accident.

Mike was a former student of Stowe Elementary and Goodrell Junior High School. He was entering his sophomore year at East before his tragic accident. He had one sister, Traci, who is currently an eighth grader at Goodrell Junior High.

Some of Mike's activities included playing football and wrestling for East, and playing baseball for Grandview Little League. He also enjoyed spending time with his family and friends.

He was a very quiet person with many friends. His friends showed how much they cared for him by dedicating their sophomore football season to Mike, and by winning the Metro Championship for him. They also hung his jersey on the sidelines before every game to help inspire the team.

Mike's memory will stay in our hearts forever.

Students find driving cars proves costly

Driving to school was a decision that had to be made by many juniors, since most of them had already reached their sixteenth birthday and had passed Driver Education.

Students who chose to drive their own car or their parents' car found out the large sum of money involved. Gas prices stayed at the swollen price of over $1 per gallon. Coupled with gas prices was the money spent on insurance premiums and other miscellaneous expenses required in the upkeep of a car.

Those students who chose not to drive to school (or were unable to) still had alternatives from which to choose, such as riding the bus, riding with another student or riding with their parents.

Busting out at the girls' flag football game

During the Homecoming Week, there were many activities going on. One of them was the powder puff football game.

The teams were the senior and freshman classes against the junior and sophomore classes. Each team picked its own cheerleaders, who were the senior and junior guys. During the game, the guys entertained the crowd by doing mounts and showing their school spirit.

Sophs are up to their ears in homework

Sophomores found themselves meeting many challenges this year. With such courses as speech, Man and Society, math and others, they were kept on their toes. Even under the stress of these difficult classes, sophomores held up well. Research is a major part of homework: laying the groundwork for a good future.

Sophs gain advantage of in-between year

The sophomores collected the advantages of that in-between year in high school. They were no longer the youngest students in the school, but they also did not take part in the activities participated in by juniors and seniors, such as 12B, Prom, UN Trip, Senior Breakfast and deciding which college to attend.

For the sophomores the pressure was relatively low and many students found this year to be extremely enjoyable.

Sophomores Mike Frushon and Todd Walker show freshman Ed Clearwater who is boss as freshman Levi McGuire looks on.

Counselor acts as shepherd to lost freshmen

Being moved from king of the hill to bottom of the barrel in less than a year is exactly what the freshmen experienced.

But this was only one problem they faced; another was classes. It wasn't uncommon for a freshman to wander into a class 10 minutes late because of either misguidance by a senior or being just plain lost.

This is where the counselor proved invaluable. His great wisdom guided the freshman and helped him see the light. And this in turn gave that freshman a great year.

Freshmen Jim Radden and Steve Tobey seek help from their counselor, Mr. Harold Baeth. Although there were numerous kinds of problems, scheduling errors were the greatest.

Freshmen fulfill Scarlet image; spirit high

Freshmen wasted no time in getting involved in life at East. They were an appreciated group of fans at the varsity football and basketball games, and they participated in junior varsity sports.

One reason many freshmen were found in the crowds was that they bought so many Student Activity Tickets. The freshmen bought over 200 SAT's. Several took advantage of the SAT installment plan, too.

Life wasn't over after the game, though. Freshmen could be found at such places as Happy Joe's, Pizza Hut and Hilltop Restaurant. But because they couldn't drive, they often car-pooled to get where they were going.

Freshmen Darrin Isaacson, Lori Coleman, David Bracewell, Diane Ashley and Jim Baker find time during lunch to discuss the day's happenings.

The long-awaited daily lunch period often found students gathering in hallways talking to their friends and making new friends. It was a well deserved time for underclassmen, who are required to take six classes a day. Unless a student had study halls, the half hour allowed for lunch was the student's only break from studies.

Lunchtime cited as valuable 'time out' for underclassmen

Freshman Scott Farnsworth goes up for a "dunk" while freshman Ted Garrington tries in vain to block him. Juan Bruce, also a freshman, looks on. The boys are participating in Mr. Kenneth Gaeth's swimming class. All freshmen are required to take nine weeks of swimming.

Frosh find a unique way to play basketball

One of the many scholastic requirements is gym class. For freshmen, basic swimming and health are also required. This year brought about a change for the freshmen. Instead of alternating health with gym, they had basic swimming for nine weeks and health for another nine weeks.

This was also the first year that each grade level had its own teacher. Each teacher kept track of things like medical and athlete excuses. Mr. Kenneth Gaeth had the freshman class, with Mr. Charles Sutherland taking the sophomores. The juniors found themselves with Mrs. Patricia Knott, and Mrs. Sharon Hanson was responsible for the seniors.

Gym class is generally alternated with study hall. Freshmen and sophomores took gym on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Juniors and seniors had it on Tuesday and Thursday.

When not taking the required swimming or health class, freshmen could choose their classes.

Physical fitness – big part of student health

The Physical Education Department changed the six-week class session to a nine-week class session. Mrs. Pat Knott, chairman of the department, said that the switch was necessary in order to change the number of offerings, and that the reason for the change was staff reduction. Each nine-week session included a six-week mini-course. Sports offered in these classes included basketball, volleyball, flag football, recreational games, square dancing, weight training, swimming, tennis, body conditioning and a variety of others.

Mr. Gayle Burgett takes a short break during one of his many gym classes.

Teachers:

Those amazing creatures!

An auto mechanics teacher, Mr. Russel Junck, instructs senior Jeff Backous how to clean the grease gun in the shop.

Mr. Adrian Martin watches seniors Roger Etzel and Mike Murray operate the television camera in the T.V. Production class.

Mr. Dennis Forker, English teacher, shows his class his imitation of "bacon" to start off the school year.

Faculty aides aid more than just faculty

The title "faculty aides" does not fully describe the many tasks and jobs that these women fulfilled.

These ten women aided not only the faculty, but also the entire student body. Some of their jobs were located in the counseling offices, the advisers' offices, the main office, the nurse's office and the library.

The tasks of the aides were varied, but they all were a very important part of keeping the school running smoothly.

Mrs. Norma Baranosky, nurse, consoles sophomore Linda Smyser as she realizes that her temperature is normal and she has to return to class.

Lunch ladies and custodians hold vital jobs

Cafeterian Ruby Welch is surprised when she opens the oven and finds more than just cookies.

Nobody!

Nobody else in this area can do a better job of getting your concrete to you on time and according to specifications. And thanks to our underground aggregate storage system, it can be freezing in winter or steaming in summer, but we'll get your concrete to you at the perfect temperature!

Nobody makes concrete better than McAninch!

STUDENT LOAN INFORMATION

Every year the cost of education, like everything else, seems to increase. At the same time, the need for education becomes more critical.

We take pride in helping students acquire the educational skills that will remain with them throughout their lifetime.

For many, a student loan is their introduction to the use of credit. Used prudently, credit can prove to be a life-long asset.

At Hawkeye-Capital Bank & Trust, we specialize in student loans. You do not have to be a bank customer to borrow from us.

Call Hawkeye-Capital Bank & Trust about our student loan program.

12 page Fall Supplement

East keeps growing and traditions upheld

Just another year? Definitely not! As the student body entered the school year, they were greeted by numerous changes. The Scarlet tribe remained great in numbers as enrollment, at the first of the year, peaked near 2,000, while overall enrollment in the Des Moines School System declined.

The Scarlets' championship tradition, which has been aroused in the recent past, also lingered on as the girls' varsity basketball team brought home the trophy for second place in state. But as the fall and winter sports drew to an end and those in the spring began, the time of graduation for the class of '82 was drawing near. The annual Spinsters' Spree dance soon arrived and went over like a cloud. With the theme of "Rainbow Connection," there was a call for some special guest appearances, that of "Kermit the Frog" and "Miss Piggy." Soon after came Prom and then Class Day, the day that many students felt would never arrive.

Then it was the long-awaited time of graduation for 388 graduates. Although it was time for the seniors to move on, left were the underclassmen to carry on many great Scarlet traditions that, as in the past, continued to grow and progress.

Senior Kim Miller continues the well known pride of EHS as she cheers for the girls' varsity basketball team in state play.

1982 East High Quill Supplement

Seniors say: 'Looks like we really made it'

A day long awaited by the seniors had finally arrived. What day was that? Graduation.

The magical word. To some it meant a new world: college, jobs, parties and new friends. To others it meant the end of an old but familiar one: tests, early-morning practice, dressing out for P.E. and, of course, those dreaded finals.

Now that a new life has started for our graduates, they can still rejoice in all the memories and souvenirs from their unforgettable three years of high school. Good luck and enjoy a prosperous life. Bon voyage . . .

Dr. Jon Ericson, professor of Speech Communications at Drake University, was guest speaker at Commencement.

Senior Darla Hartzer graciously accepts her long-awaited but well-earned diploma.

'Just Between You and Me'

The gym bleachers filled with eager parents and students as seniors clamored when they tried to find their places in line. Suddenly, over the loudspeakers, the beginning of "Pomp and Circumstance" was heard by all. The 1982 Class Day Assembly had begun.

The assembly was held May 21 at 9 a.m. with the theme, "Looks Like We Made It." Everyone who took part in the assembly really did make it. The Senior Board, several teachers and many others organized the assembly.

Some of the events that occurred during the assembly were the presentation of several awards, the announcements of many different scholarships, the valedictorians' speeches and the presentation of mementos.

In the opinion of Mr. Stan Thompson, chairman of the Class Day Assembly Committee, "Everyone worked very hard and very well together."

Senior Kent Reed inspires the graduating class with his valedictorian speech.

Marla Ford, senior, receives a white cord from Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, while senior Karla Evans looks on.

Marching for the final time are seniors Cheryl Rodda, Patty Delk, Jackie Harrington and Rhonda Arpy.

PROM COURT. Darla Hartzer, Sherrie Quinn, Maria King (queen), Denise Tellis, Toby Charles, Jay Fisher, Mike McClellan, Bill O'Boyle (king).

On May 8, several young couples, wearing tuxedos and long dresses, entered the Hotel Savery. What was the special occasion? The occasion was the 1982 Junior-Senior Prom.

The highlight of this memorable evening came when seniors Bill O'Boyle and Maria King were crowned king and queen of the Prom. The band "Reflections" played this year's theme song, "Just Between You and Me," while the Prom Court enjoyed the slow dance. The remainder of the Prom Court included seniors Darla Hartzer, Sherrie Quinn, Denise Tellis, Toby Charles, Jay Fisher and Mike McClellan.

At the dance, couples could take advantage of the inviting refreshment table or get their pictures taken by Mr. John Lethcoe, photography instructor, for $5 per package.

Many seniors commented that this year's Prom was a great event to wrap up a great senior year.

Sophomore Shelly Swim and junior Paul Weizorek gaze fondly at one another while sharing a quiet moment together at the dance.

Senior Tammy Powell applauds with excitement as her date, Bill O'Boyle, is chosen king of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Seniors rise for an early a.m. breakfast

The theme of the Senior Breakfast was "Somewhere Down the Road." It was sponsored by the Science Board. The song "Somewhere Down the Road" was sung by senior Robin Brady. Seniors enjoyed the breakfast, which was served by junior girls.

"It's a real honor," commented one girl after being made a member of the National Honor Society.

The National Honor Society is an organization for academically outstanding high school juniors and seniors.

Senior Ed Scully receives a pair of "tillies" as his Goofy Award, for filling out his cheerleading uniform the best at the Powder Puff Football game.

- Yearbook Corrections -

Several errors appeared in the yearbook, and we wish to take this opportunity to correct them, especially since this is our last yearbook supplement (because of rising costs).

First, the Majorettes were not given sufficient coverage; see below.

Second, Chris Waters' glossy was not included in the senior section. It is printed at right.

Third, sophomore David Bell's ID picture was omitted. It is printed at right.

Fourth, senior Teresa Harne was not present when the picture of the girls' swimming team was taken, and her name was not included under NOT PICTURED. Since she was an outstanding member of the team, we are printing her picture at right.

Fifth, sophomore Joe Leonardi was incorrectly identified as Joe Lazzari on pages 18 and 19.

Sixth, Mrs. Norma Baranosky was incorrectly identified as a faculty aide. She is not a faculty aide; she is the school nurse.

Seventh, the fifth row of the Pep Club were not identified on page 31.

ROW 5: Rebekah Starrett, Anna Pitts,

Jill Byerly, Pam Wylie, Mary O'Brien, Wendy Fowler, Teresa Barton, Michelle Chaney, Teresa Miller, Debbie Pfundheller, Diane Reynolds, Beth Hamilton, Marilyn Nair.

Eighth, the Special Education copy on page 105 is misleading; a more accurate summary of this department is given below.

Students at East should feel proud to have programs which help all students within the school. The Special Education programs at East help students obtain greater knowledge and experience to overcome a specific or individual problem area they may have. Various teaching methods are used within the different programs, there is no one primary method. All these programs simply help students obtain their maximum potential and to become beneficial citizens in our society.

Ninth, on the same page it is incorrectly stated that New Horizons is a Special Education program. It isn't. It is a special program funded through a number of sources for low-income students who do not have learning disabilities.

Leading the band performing in assemblies were only a couple of the many activities of the Majorettes. Three students — Denise Zook, junior, Tina Rowe, junior, and Terri Huss, senior — made up the squad.

Performances made up most of the season for the Majorettes. One such performance was at Area 11 where they put on a demonstration for a day care center. The Majorettes also accompanied the band on their spring trip to Branson, Missouri. While on the trip the Majorettes performed twice: once in Silver Dollar City and once in downtown Branson.

Denise Zook was the captain and the group was sponsored by Mr. Don Bury, instrumental music director.

Scarlet boys second at state; Smith breaks state record

Although they came up just barely short of the state title, the boys' track team gave it all they had in every event. Placing second in the state was undoubtedly the zenith of the year for the team. This made the second year in a row that the Scarlet took second place in the state.

Outstanding performances highlighted the very close state meet. Curtis Morrow, senior, won the state title in the high jump with a career-high leap of 6'9". Curtis also took third place in the 110 high hurdles. The most memorable event was the 800-meter run: Caesar Smith, senior, not only won the race, but broke the meet record. Caesar's time was the fastest time every recorded in the state for that distance.

There were several other good showings by the team. Matt Moberg, senior, came in third in the 1600-meter run. The 1600 medley relay team of Rod Sanders, junior, and seniors Lon Newby, Randy Underwood and Caesar Smith took second place. The same group placed third in the 4 x 400-meter relay. These four boys won those two events in the Drake Relays.

Runners not mentioned that also qualified for state were: Dwight Patton, junior, and seniors Mike Lowe, Marc Glynn and Keith Wilson. Even though the boys had to settle for the second-place trophy, they will always be our champions.

Girls' track team sends six to state meet

Qualifying six runners in seven events for the state track meet was the outstanding accomplishment of the girls' track team. Alycia Simpson, Jackie Ollie, freshmen, Lisa Ginther, sophomore, Heidi Hecker, Desiree McGuire, juniors, and Traci Collins, senior, participated at state. The best showing was by Heidi Hecker, who placed fifth in the 400-meter hurdles.

Twenty-three harriers completed the successful season with only two seniors and nine others returning. The team turned out 19 letterwinners.

Balance in the running events was the main strength of the team, according to Head Coach Gary Brand.

Hard work pays off: Conway goes to state

Senior Jim Conway, ranking number one on the boys' tennis team, took the mighty Scarlets to state this year. Though he's leaving East this year, the ball will still be bouncing across the net, with an excellent team coming back next year. Junior Dan Hernandez, ranking number two on the team, is readily awaiting and practicing to take over where Conway left off.

Mary Burgess was the number one ranking tennis player on the girls' team. The team next year will include five juniors, four sophomores and one freshman from this year's team.

Both teams showed their pride for the Scarlets by practicing long hard hours to get ready for their meets.

Junior Greg Hillman follows through with his stroke as his ball rolls onto the green.

Golf balls fly into air as Scarlets try

As golf balls rolled onto the greens of the courses and flew through the air, the boys' and girls' golf teams worked their hardest to show their Scarlet pride.

In boys' golf, junior Greg Hillman was ranked number one, and in girls' golf, junior Maria Polich was ranked number one.

Mr. Gerald Cowles, the boys' coach, and Mr. John Schnoor, girls' coach, worked hard with the students on the team and those students showed real Scarlet pride, even though it was a tough year.

Spring plays are successful presentations

"The Pajama Game," produced by the Chamber Singers and Miss Linda Chamberlain, was a musical comedy about factory workers on strike for a seven-and-a-half cent raise. It included well-known songs, such as "Hernando's Hideaway" and "Steam Heat."

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" was another successful production, presented by the Drama Department and directed by Miss Ruth Gaines. It took place in the 1920's and centered around a segment of the life of a famous radio announcer who had never been seen by the public, until he finally accepted a dinner invitation.

Senior Annette DeVries dances away to the union rally pep song, "Steam Heat." Annette played the part of Gladys Hotchkiss, the boss's secretary who fell in love with the plant foreman in "The Pajama Game."

Senior Jane Hutzel flashes her baby browns in the spring play. She played the part of Lorraine.

Tom Mentzer, junior, shows his fancy footwork as he enters a scene in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."
